

This thesis focuses on mapping latest knowledge in the area of web mining with emphasis on document clustering. Most attention is given to the DOC projective clustering algorithm, a modification is presented for data with weighted dimensions. Algorithm is used for web search engine result clustering. Also, a clustering package with Google interface and phrase evaluation tool is implemented.